

MEET THE Foodfather

In California, Arbor Day (March 7) celebrates Luther Burbank, a local botanist born on that date! The festivities run for a full week. Burbank developed over 800 new varieties of fruits, veggies, and more to help feed the world. Californians plant trees in his honor.

Pi ME, PLEASE

March 14 is Pi Day, the ultimate holiday for math lovers—and people who love pie. The Greek letter (π , or 3.14...) is an irrational number, aka a number that never ends! To celebrate, eat some pi-neapple and see which of your friends can memorize the most digits.

EXTRA, EXTRA, READ ALL ABOUT Her!

March is Women's History Month and National Reading Month—a perfect time for reading about inspiring women. Pick up a biography like I Am Malala (about a Nobel Prize winner), Becoming Emily (about a poet), or The Lady is a Spy (about a World War II heroine).
